London Admiralty Claims Britain's Mediterranean Fleet Engaged in Sea Battle With Mussolini's Powerful Force at "Extreme Range" Shortly Before Noon Today, Pursuing Enemy Men O'War As They Retired at High Speed

INVADERS STILL ARE FLEEING IN ALBANIA

BULLETIN
New York, Nov. 27.—(P)—The Rome radio broadcast an announcement today that the Italian council of ministers, with Premier Mussolini presiding, would meet Saturday, November 30.

By the Associated Press
Britain's Mediterranean fleet fought a sea battle with a powerful Italian force at "extreme range" shortly before noon today, the London admiralty reported, and pursued the Fascist men o' war "retired at high speed."

The communiqué said the Italian fleet—which the British long have sought to lure into a major naval clash—includes two battleships, a large force of cruisers and destroyers.

The Australian naval ministry reported that an "enemy raider" sank the 8,739-ton British cargo ship Port Brisbane in the middle of the Indian Ocean five days ago. Earlier, the London air ministry reported that far-ranging British heavy bombers set fires at the Italian royal arsenal at Turin and raided Berlin, while Britain's little ally, Greece, declared Italy's invasion armies were falling back in disorder with "broken morale."

The attack on Turin, it was said, "greatly increased" the destruction inflicted in a raid Saturday night. Members of the British parliament heard Minister Without Portfolio Arthur Greenwood, in a debate on war production, admit that Britain is "far from being fully armed."

But, he said, with United States aid "our increasing production in both quality and weight will finally crush the might of the dictators."

Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin told the house that "between now and next June," there will be "another enormous call up" of Britain. (Turn to Page Eleven)

SUCCESSOR TO SEN. PITTMAN SELECTED

Carson City, Nev., Nov. 27.—(P)—Nevada's successor in the United States senate to the late Key Pittman will be 34-year-old Berkeley L. Bunker, a state Democratic leader.

Governor E. P. Carville appointed Bunker last night for the veteran senator's unexpired term, ending early next year. Bunker will be re-appointed then, the governor said, for another two years, the maximum allowable under Nevada law, and must face the voters in the general election of 1942 if he wishes to continue in office.

Pittman, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, was elected to his sixth term less than a week before he died in Reno on November 10.

Minority Floor Leader in the Senate Declares Democrats Will Not Help to Confirm Adams

BY TOM REEDY
Harrisburg, Nov. 27.—(P)—Harry Shapiro, minority floor leader in the state senate, said today the Democrats "never would help to confirm Major Lynn G. Adams as commissioner of the Pennsylvania motor police."

Adams has held his job since the start of the James administration in 1939 by interim appointment because of the same appointment in previous legislative sessions. When Governor James was elected in the Republican sweep of 1938, he restored Adams to the force in full charge. Republicans had a 27-23 majority in the 1939 senate. They failed to win enough Democratic votes then to confirm Adams. At least 34 two-thirds of the senate membership is needed for confirmation of an executive appointment. The

At the same time the Navy Department chief notified an additional class of naval and marine reserves, numbering 31,908 officers and men, that they should arrange their affairs so as to be ready for a call to active duty at any moment.

The agreement, signed last night by representatives of the company and the CIO United Automobile Workers, provided wage increases of some $1,400,000 annually for production men in the minimum pay bracket.

Iron Guard Reported in Dispatch from Bucharest to Have Taken Bloody Revenge on Regime of Former King Carol II By Mass Killing Under Rifle Fire 64 Political Leaders Near the Grave of Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, Founder of Government

GREAT MANY FORMER OFFICIALS INCLUDED

By the Associated Press
Budapest, Hungary, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Rumanian Iron Guard was reported today to have taken a bloody revenge on the regime of former King Carol II early today by executing 64 political prisoners near the grave of Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, founder of the guard.

The firing squad purge was said to have been carried out in the same manner that many hundreds of guards were executed before the Nazi-inclined guard seized power in Rumania, forced Carol to abdicate in September and began a close alignment of Rumania with Germany.

TALKS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND U. S. BEING RESUMED

Washington, Nov. 27.—(P)—Immediate resumption of diplomatic talks between the United States and Russia, interrupted by the recent visit to Berlin of the Soviet premier, Vyacheslav Molotov, was disclosed today at the State Department.

A meeting was announced for late afternoon between Constantin Oumansky, Soviet ambassador, and Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state. It was the first such conference scheduled since U. S.-Russian conversations stopped shortly before Molotov went to Berlin for talks with Adolf Hitler and other German leaders.

This was interpreted in informed quarters as a sign that Molotov's Berlin visit had not impaired the negotiations which have been in progress here for several months looking to a general improvement of Russo-American relations.

The Welles-Oumansky talks have dealt mainly with trade and related problems with a view to adjusting these before going on to broader questions. Gains on each side have been relatively small so far, but both the United States and Russia were understood to desire to continue the conversations for the present in the hope of more tangible results.

Molotov's trip to Berlin caused concern at the time in official quarters here lest it presage closer Russian alignment with the Axis, possibly as a partner in the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo front.

Penn'a Prepares to Observe Thanksgiving In Keeping With Traditions of the Holiday

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—(P)—For some communities, tomorrow will be a "repeater" but for the rest of the state, Thursday means Thanksgiving—for the first time.

Schools will observe their usual holiday, stores will be closed, so will banks which also celebrated last week and in general it will be a day in keeping with all the traditions of the day of thanks.

The state was one of 16 which declined to acknowledge President Roosevelt's designation of November 21, preferring to celebrate on the last Thursday in the month. Pittsburgh and Reading declared both days "Thanksgiving."

In some sections of the state there was promise of a "white" Thanksgiving as the weatherman predicted continued cold weather would keep snow on the ground. Pittsburgh and vicinity had a forecast of light snows for today.

Students in many state colleges packed for the long-five-day weekend, and those at Penn State had a 35 fire hanging over their heads if they took more than the allotted time in a 18-hour period at the beginning or end of the vacation.

LOGAN - WALTER BILL REPORTED FACING A VETO

Advocates Strive to Hasten Final Congressional Action on Measure by Asking House to Accept Bodily Senate Changes

SURPRISE MOVE MADE

Washington, Nov. 27.—(P)—Encouraged by a surprisingly sudden senate victory, Logan-Walter bill advocates today strove to hasten final congressional action by asking the house to accept bodily all senate changes in the measure.

Rep. Francis F. Waller (D-Pa.) requested that the senate amendments be submitted to the house for approval when it reconvenes tomorrow. If he carries his point and the amendments are accepted, the measure will go to the White House where a veto already has been forecast.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley, who predicted that President Roosevelt would veto the controversial measure, said he believed the senate would sustain the president in that event.

Barkley opened the way for the bill's 27-to-25 victory in the senate yesterday when he abruptly abandoned his previous strategy of delay and said he was ready for a showdown vote. Until then, expectations were that consideration (Turn to Page Eleven)

The dead were Alex Johnson, 55, and his wife, Jessie, 54, who lived on the third floor of the apartment building. QUIET SEND-OFF GIVEN BOYS ON THEIR DEPARTURE

Without fanfare or special ceremonies, Warren county's first two peacetime draftees left this morning for Pittsburgh, where they will be inducted into the United States military forces for a year of training.

Members of Rodgers' family, who were at the bus for the leave-taking, all sisters and brothers-in-law, were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Heaven, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lingo, and Mrs. Frank Viola and children.

Both of the young men, who volunteered for service, were in a jolly mood as they awaited their bus. Asked how they felt about entering the army for a year, they replied, "Well, there's nothing to be afraid of, is there?"

"Our only regret," Rodgers said, "is that we have to leave before the start of deer hunting season. So, if anyone has an extra side of venison they might send it along to us at Fort Meade."

In Pittsburgh the boys will be inducted by an officer of the U. S. Army to be accompanied to the induction station. There they will receive their second physical. (Turn to Page Eleven)

ALTOONA MAN IS HELD FOR SHOTGUN SLAYING

Altoona, Nov. 27.—(P)—Charged with homicide, Eugene Miller, 27, was held without bail in the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Betty May Yeager, 26, at her parents' home.

Francis T. Harmon, 20, who with Miller boarded at the house, was held on a charge of being an accessory after the fact. At an afternoon hearing yesterday, police accused Harmon of withholding information on the shooting.

Police Lieutenant L. W. F. Habershtroff and Patrolman Russell O. Sholt testified Miller told them he shot Mrs. Yeager because she shunned him and favored Harmon. The young woman was estranged from her husband.

Another charged a scheme to defraud Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., of $9,918.

In the second case, McKay was accused of collecting money on false pretenses to meet a deficit of the Republican state rental campaign following the 1938 campaign. Actually, the indictment said, there was no deficit and the Ford Motor Co. was shown false invoices.

A third indictment named a state purchasing agent and his supplier who have had dealings with the state.

Plans Completed for Santa Claus to Greet Kiddies on Streets of Warren Friday Night

The merchandising division of the Warren Chamber of Commerce is delighted to announce that through strenuous efforts the secretary has been able to contact Santa Claus at his North Pole workshop and arrange for him to make a quick trip to Warren.

Santa will arrive some time during the early evening Friday, and he on the streets to greet young Warrenites when they accompany their parents to listen to the high school band and view the exhibits in the stores observing Christmas Day. "Queen House." Naturally, Santa will be busy that evening, but he will have time to listen to what youngsters who want to tell what he wishes for Christmas; and parents are urged to listen in so that they can remind Santa if he forgets some details.

And then in the stores! According to the merchants, there will be breath-taking display of toys for the children; and trunks and treasures for the girls; and neckties, and socks, and robes, and slippers, and dressing cases, and what-not for the men; and luxurious robes, and cosmetic sets, and perfumes, and jewels for the women. Just to hear tell about it is enough to get one excited.

Other lands may be in the midst of wars and rumors of wars; but here in the good old United States, and especially Friday evening in Warren, we can enjoy Christmas preparations in the good old way. Tomorrow, on our Thanksgiving Day, we can all give heartfelt thanks for that among the other blessings which we should remember.

But to get back to the Christmas open house observance. The participating merchants state that the high school band will play selections in all portions of the central shopping district, so that no matter where you stop to ex-

MIDDLEWEST HAVING LOWER TEMPERATURES

By the Associated Press
Pennsylvania dug out today from the effects of a storm that swept out of the northwest to blanket the state with sub-freezing temperatures, cold rain, sleet and snow that reached a flat depth of nine inches in the north central area.

Temperatures moderated a little, highway crews worked to open roads and resume driving hazards. After a mid-morning check, the state highways department said at main roads were open. Cidering and plowing operations continued.

The department said two inches of snow fell in the northwest area, between two and a half and five inches in the north central; from five and a half to seven in the south.

EX-TREASURER INDICTED WITH OTHERS IN MICH.

Detroit, Nov. 27.—(P)—A special federal grand jury investigating affairs of Michigan's state government indicted Frank D. McKay, of Grand Rapids, Republican national committeeman and former state treasurer, and eleven others today on mail fraud charges.

One indictment charged that McKay and eleven others used the mails to defraud the state of "the honest services of its public officials" in a $500,000 shakedown of distilleries selling their wares to the state liquor control commission.

Another charged a scheme to defraud Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., of $9,918.

In the second case, McKay was accused of collecting money on false pretenses to meet a deficit of the Republican state rental campaign following the 1938 campaign. Actually, the indictment said, there was no deficit and the Ford Motor Co. was shown false invoices.

A third indictment named a state purchasing agent and his supplier who have had dealings with the state.

Traffic in Wide Area Disrupted

The northeast and from two and a half to six in the southeast.
In the Pocono mountains, snow drifted to a depth of 15 inches, leaving highway crews their biggest job. Rural Lackawanna county had a seven-inch covering.
Additional snow flurries were predicted for the north and west, and in the west and south-east portions.

Trains and buses were "getting through" officials said, but in many sections, Tuesday night the delay was as much as an hour late. All airlines cancelled Pennsylvania flights Tuesday.

The highway department gave this composite picture of the storm.

Northwest: Snow, ice and freezing, north central—snow, ice and freezing, northwest—sleet, ice and freezing, southeast—sleet, ice and freezing, south central—snow, ice and freezing, southwest—snow and freezing.

The storm came on the heels of a cold wave which sent temperatures to new lows for the season in many districts.

In some areas high winds whipped rain in sheets which obscured visibility, while the sleet, which followed, brought traffic almost to a standstill until it melted.

The northern section of the state was covered with a sheet of ice and snow, while in the east the snow ranged up to six inches in depth at Scranton.

State police stationed at short intervals warned motorists on the "all-weather" super-highway between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

Pittsburgh escaped the ice when temperatures rose to 41 degrees after a driving rainstorm.

The sleet struck Philadelphia just at the evening rush hour while ice quickly formed around Erie in the wake of heavy rains and snows.

The heaviest snowfall of the season blanketed eastern states today, while colder weather overspread the middle west and flood waters inundated sections of Texas and Louisiana.

The snowstorm in the east began early last night in some sections and by midnight the fall ranged up to six inches in Pennsylvania. Ice and snow covered highways slowed motor traffic in the east and central states. Air transportation was halted by swirling snow.

NO TRACE FOUND OF COUNTY MAN MISSING A WEEK

Highway Department Officials and Motor Club Members Visit Projects

TIMES TOPICS

Relatives of John Morgach, 80-year-old Warren county resident who disappeared last Wednesday morning, report that no trace has yet been found of the missing man. Morgach was last seen about 8:30 o'clock November 20 near the intersection of Liberty street and Pennsylvania avenue. He was wearing gray trousers, a checked lumberman's jacket and a cap. A neighbor Carl Solberg who is employed in this city stated that Morgach had asked to ride to Warren with him that morning and stated he was going to the court house. He got out of the car on Pennsylvania avenue. Morgach has resided on the old Youngsville-Pittsfield road for about 20 years coming to this section from Canada. Anyone having any information regarding the man is asked to communicate with his family or call Youngsville 12301.

MEN'S CLUB MEETING

St. Joseph's Young Men's Club will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at eight o'clock.

HAS POSITION

Russell Cogswell, 328 Water street, expects to leave Friday for Bridgeport Conn. where he has accepted a position as route salesman with a beverage company.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE

The Warren Public Library will be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving Day, it was announced today. Books which are due on the holiday may be returned the following day without an overdue charge being made.

CLARENDON V. I. W.

Because the regular meeting night comes on Thanksgiving Day, the Marshall Larsen Post Veterans of Foreign Wars of Clarendon will postpone its session until eight o'clock Friday night. The meeting is to be held in the I. O. O. F. hall and all members are urged to be in attendance.

AVOID ENROLLERS

Officials of CCC Camp ANK-13 located about five miles from Sheffield today asked that hunters be on the lookout for enrollers of the camp who are working along the Fairview between Cherry Grove and Clarendon. Hunters are asked to avoid firing near there to eliminate the possibility of a hunting accident in that section.

NOVENA AT ST. JOSEPH'S

It was announced Sunday at St. Joseph's church that the annual solemn novena to the Blessed Virgin Mary in honor of her Immaculate Conception will open Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Hundreds of people annually attend this novena and it is expected a larger number will attend this year. Everyone is invited to the services.

HARMON ON AIR

Eddie Cantor will have as his guest in his WEAF-NBC program tonight Tom Harmon, All-American back from the Michigan football team. Harmon has ambitions to go into radio and this will be his first opportunity to tryout on network time in the fields of acting, announcing and singing. However, he is not a novice at the microphone. He had been running a local station series in Detroit each Saturday as part of his university radio course.

SPECIAL THANKSGIVING DINNERS

Served 12-9 P. M. Thursday. Blue and White Restaurant. 11-26-21.

It requires only about one and one-third seconds for the light of the moon to reach the earth.

Although their trip was cut short by the sudden arrival of snow and sleet, several members of the board of governors of the Warren County Motor Club were taken on an interesting tour of some of the work done by the state highway department in the county during the past year by district and local officials of the department yesterday.

While time and storm prevented them from visiting all of the projects being completed by the highway department, the motor club members were given an interesting report of its accomplishments by Glenn D. Myers of Franklin, assistant district engineer.

Other highway department officials on the trip were A. N. McCandless of Franklin, district traffic engineer, and G. H. Seigworth, county highway superintendent. Leaving Warren the first project visited was that of widening and resurfacing U. S. route 6 from Clarendon to Weldbank and route 666 through Sheffield. This project about 35 percent completed has been suspended for the winter. It consists of widening the existing pavement four feet and covering with bituminous paving material. In the village of Sheffield the pavement through the business section will be widened. This project being done under contract, will cost $61,000.

From Sheffield the group visited the new three-mile stretch between Barnes and the Potomac county line near Brookston. This is an 18-foot road with bituminous surface on a native stone base and includes a bridge. Cost of this project now completed was $80,000 of which the federal government pays half.

The party went from this project to Garland where the new highway and overhead bridge are being completed. This work includes relocation of the highway to eliminate two railroad crossings connecting route 27 with route 77, the Garland Spring Creek road and the building of an overhead and span to connect it with the Garland-Grand Valley road. This work is expected to be completed within the next week or ten days. Only a small amount of work remains on the project.

One of the features of this job is the experimental use of five different types of concrete to determine which is most suitable for the type of climate experienced in this section.

There are two distinct parts to the Garland project, each being done by a different contractor. One of these includes the building of the two-mile piece of road from the old highway near the Whites town crossing to the portion of the Spring Creek road which had been finished previously. This job is to cost $130,000. It includes the 20-foot bridge.

The second portion of the job is the building of the overhead and approaches connecting the first road with route 27 in the village

Annual Mail Early For Christmas Campaign Started at Post Office

Shop new wrap carefully. It is also suggested that by addressing plainly and early, as the advice carried on a printed card issued by the Post Office Department and which will be distributed to patrons of the Warren post office within the next few days, it was announced today by Postmaster James K. Bell.

By carefully following the instructions and suggested methods for packing and mailing outlined thereon, said the postmaster, patrons will greatly facilitate the handling of the heavy holiday mail and insure the speedy and safe delivery of their letters and parcels.

The postmaster also suggested that in the selection of Christmas greeting cards the public avoid as far as possible the use of small cards and envelopes which in the handling of the heavy holiday mail are more liable to loss or damage in the mailing machine. No card smaller than 2 1/2 inches by 4 inches should be used, and a little larger size is preferable, the postmaster said.

Today's Lesson in Flag Etiquette

• The flag should always be flown at the top of the pole with the stars in the upper left corner.

• When hanging with the stripes in a vertical position, the stars should be near the upper left corner.

• On parade the American flag should be the place of honor, at the right.

When flown at half-staff the flag should be hoisted to the peak for an instant and lowered to the half-staff position. Before lowering the flag it should be raised to the peak. On Memorial Day, May, the flag should be displayed at half-staff from sunrise until noon and at full-staff from noon until sunset.

WE ARE LUCKY—LET'S BE THANKFUL!
Americans are the luckiest people in the world.
If they were anything but devoutly and humbly thankful this Thanksgiving Day, they would be the most ungrateful people in the world.
We are at peace—and thus we have been granted the most precious boon granted to any people in these days.
We live in a plentiful continent stuffed with all the good things of material life.
We have freedom: we have hope.
Of all people in the world who should give humble thanks for their blessings, we should be foremost.
We are at peace—but that is no great credit to our superior policies or even our superior good-will.
Other countries have as earnestly sought and worked for peace, have had as great good-will, but peace was snatched from them.
We live amid plenty. That this plenty is not available to all is a matter for our shame. But the opportunity has been given us. Plenty is ours. That we have not had the wit or the will so to distribute it that all might share is certainly no fault but our own.
We have freedom. Our forefathers won it for us with blood and tears. It comes to us today through no special merit of our own. But it is given us today without regard to our effort or merit.
Surely a people so blessed can do no less than to take a day of solemn thought to consider how it may become more nearly worthy of this bounty.
More than 300 years ago a tiny band of Pilgrims
on the Rocky New England coast saw their straggling crop wither in drought. They visioned another "starving time" such as they had looked upon before, when loved ones weakened and died before their eyes for lack of a little corn. Then came rain. The crop was saved. And for this simple bounty they declared a day of Thanksgiving.
This is the day which we, who have been a thousand times more favored, are to observe once again.
May we render these thanks with something of the humility and devotion that moved the Pilgrims, kneeling amid their ragged cornstalks at Plymouth.

In behalf of the community The Times-Mirror says farewell to Joseph B. Rodgers, R. D. 1, Warren, and William Roman, R. D. 1, Pittsfield, Warren county's first 1940 draftees. We are interested in you. As a community we shall follow your careers in the army with interest. That all good things, all success and all joy may be yours is our wish. May you be good soldiers and may you, at the end of the year, return better in body, mind and soul by reason of the training you have received and the experiences that have come to you.

THANKSGIVING SERMONETTE
John C. Bengtson, Bethlehem Congregational Church
"The Power of Praise"
"At midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God:
and the prisoners heard them. And suddenly there was a great earthquake." Acts: 16:24,25.
Against what a dark background gratitude was expressed during that midnight hour. Feet were rigidly and mercilessly secured between heavy stocks. Bodies were bruised, torn, and bleeding from the recent indiscriminate flogging. And this endured in the darkest, dingiest part of a Roman prison dungeon. If ever one might be forgiven for giving way to self pity or complaint, surely here is an occasion. Yet, unable to sleep because of pain, thanksgiving and praise are voiced in no uncertain way.
Gratitude is the expression of a noble spirit. Ingratitude is always the mark of the coarse and the base. Gratitude further ennoble the one who expresses it. It has a beneficial refining effect upon character and the whole of one's life. Every minister knows its stimulating effect on the spiritual life of the individual. Every psychiatrist knows its value to mental health and equilibrium. Every physician knows its therapeutic value in recovering from or preventing illness. Truly the author of the Book of Wisdom said, "A cheerful heart doeth good like a medicine."
"And the prisoners heard them." For once the coarse oaths are silenced and a different type of life and spirit is demonstrated. Here is heard a note of triumph in the most adverse and trying circumstances. What could enable one to manifest a radiant spirit in such a place and after such treatment? It is the glory of the Christian spirit that circumstances do not crush or undo it. They but furnish a background against which its superior quality is unmistakably shown.
Praise may be heard on earth but it is even heard above. A legend tells of two angels sent to earth, the one to gather in a basket the prayers, the other, the praises. The one sent to gather the prayers returned with a basket full. The other returned with relatively few of his commodity. Man prays little, praises less. But praise has its certain response in the heart of God. Paul and Silas sing praise. God shakes the prison to loosen their bonds and that of others. The calcused jailer is shaken into thought and prayer. Paul leaves Philippi with Christianity firmly established in the hearts of the first male convert in this strategic city, and on the continent of Europe itself. God can do for and through the grateful what no other can for others.
PRAYER: Father of all mercies, teach us to recognize our benefits.
Help us to live usefully and sacrificially out of motives of gratitude.
Enable us to praise our way through difficult places and over insurmountable difficulties.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S
And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.—Genesis 1:11.
Nature is too thin a screen; the glory of the omnipresent God bursts through everywhere.—Emerson.

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL
By Bruce Catton
The Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

"NEW MAJORITY"
WILL PUT STRESS
ON INVESTIGATION
Washington, Nov. 27.—Biggest change that has come over any government agency in years is about due on the National Labor Relations Board.
There will be a lot of reorganizing and a lot of changes in personnel. Most important of all, however, will be the change in the board's general attitude.
The board's "new majority"—
Dr. Harry A. Millis and Dr. William N. Leiserson—feel that the board should be primarily a scientific investigating body rather than a combination of judge and prosecutor. That implies a profound shift in the board's approach to its job.
For instance: technically, the board is not what everyone supposes it to be—a law enforcement agency. It has no power to compel an employer to do anything.
It can't enforce its own decrees.
All it can do is go to a federal court and, in effect, say: "We find the facts to be thus and so and we feel that the remedy should be such and such. Please look the whole business over, and if you see it in the way we do please issue
an order."
That being so, the "new majority" sees the big job as one of getting the facts—all the facts, not merely the ones which will support an accusation. For the board as they see it is not out to prosecute someone for violating a law; it is out to study a complaint, collect and examine the facts, and see what those facts indicate.
This means extensive research by trained men. It means much less wrangling by lawyers, much less mulling-out of evidence as "inadmissible" in labor board hearings. It means a labor board tackling a given job like an assayer who examines an ore sample—not to find out if there is one specific element in the sample but to learn exactly how many elements are there and in what proportions.
Along with all of this there will be a new emphasis on impartiality of approach and manner. Both Dr. Millis and Dr. Leiserson have spent years in the arbitration and mediation of labor cases. Mediation has no place in their present job—but the job is a lot like that of an arbitrator.
An arbitrator in a labor case is given a contract between two parties. He studies it to see exactly what it provides. Then he studies the facts, to see exactly how the situation which those facts create is affected by the provisions of the contract.
In a way, that's similar to the labor board's job as these men see it. In place of a labor contract there is the Wagner Act;
find out what the facts are when there is a complaint, match them against the law, and see what you get—bearing in mind always that the big job is to get the facts, not to make out a case against somebody.
Mostly (to repeat) that is a matter of emphasis and approach. It implies that it's not enough to reach the right verdict unless you reach it in the right way. All parties must be convinced that the board is fair and is doing its level best to dispense justice. In every case that comes before the board, somebody is going to lose: unless the loser feels that he got a fair break from a studiously impartial tribunal, he's going to be sore and so is the general public. And if the public gets sore enough, the labor board is going to come a cropper no matter how right it has been.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN
Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times
In 1920
Warren merchants met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning and discussed plans for placing Christmas trees about the business district again this year. All the streets will be lined with trees and every tree decorated with small incandescent lights.
Franklin Hoff, of the Warren county young people's commission, and Pearl Lund, advised this morning from Williamsport, where for the past three days they have been attending the 11th annual Pennsylvania state young people's conference.
The annual meeting of the departed brethren of the Warren Lodge of Elks was held in the lodge rooms Saturday afternoon. Rev. John M. Johnson, of the North Warren Presbyterian church, will officiate at the service.
Warren's first state food inspection was from Youngville today.
In 1930
The December meeting of council will be held Monday evening and it is probable that the most important legislation to be brought up will be the "milk ordinance," which has been under discussion for nearly a year. It is believed it will fail to become a law, as it would practically give those equipped for pasteurization a monopoly of the milk business in Warren.
The following from Lewis M. Clark Post, United Spanish War Veterans, will attend a Northwest Ohio Council meeting in Franklin Saturday. Charles R. H. E. Smith, H. Abbott, George Haehn, Fred Wendelboe, F. E. Windsor, P. S. Martin, J. Rounds, C. Hillman, F. Beebe.
At St. Joseph's church this year the annual Solemn Novena to the Blessed Mother of God in honor of Her Immaculate Conception will be offered up that the unemployed may obtain work and that working conditions will return to normal.
Freezing weather and accompanying snow of the week has provided some of the best coasting that has been enjoyed in November in recent years.
Dr. LeRoy E. Campbell will deliver the third of his series of lectures on sacred art in the First Methodist church, tomorrow morning.

STAMP NEWS
WAR will not interrupt Switzerland's annual Youth series of stamps. The 1940 semi-postals will picture Gottfried Keller, 19th century poet and novelist and typical women of the cantons of Thurgau, Solothurn and Zug. The stamps will be placed on sale in December.
Portugal gives philately an air-view of the 1940 World Exposition in a new single value. The stamp is the fifth of the Exposition group.
Argentina's new airmail series includes five values in three designs. The stamps picture the silhouette of an airplane against the background of an envelope, a plane in flight, and Mercury and a plane.
Don't be surprised if a new U. S. airmail is announced soon. And it may come with no more advance notice than the recent U. S. 13th Airmail commemorative which was announced and released in less than two weeks.
A new Red Cross stamp, issued by Yugoslavia, pictures a woman ministering to a wounded soldier on a battlefield. The battle picture is that at Kossava, between the Turks and Serbs in 1389.

THANKSGIVING DAY
We have no reason to be disheartened these days.
When the sturdy colonists foresaw that they would be reduced to the point of starvation in the summer of 1621, following the landing at Plymouth, they decided on a day of Thanksgiving. Amid such surroundings as these they were not disheartened. Instead, we learn from the old chronicles that Governor Bradford, "The harvest being gotten in, sent four men out fowling, so that we might after a more special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruit of our labor."
No! We should not be disheartened.
There is always reason for thanksgiving!

A Washington Daybook
By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Meet the government "junk men."
They deal in everything from burlap sacks to silver fox scarves; from horse manure to airplanes; from blackjacks to antique clocks.
Out of the government grab-bag, they take more than $20-000,000 worth of junk, leftovers and confiscated materials every year and the figure is mounting steadily. About 85 per cent of it is diverted into government channels where the government would have to pay millions more for the stuff if it had to purchase it outright. The rest is sold at public auction.
These "junk men" are the boys in the surplus property section of the treasury procurement division. They know more about making palatable hash out of leftovers than the most efficient housewife in the land. And incidentally, they probably are the biggest cash-savers in your work-
a-day government.
Of Post-War Origin
THE surplus property section was started after the World war, when the government found it had about $350,000,000 worth of surplus stocks built up that would rot or become obsolete unless somebody could dispose of them. The section was formed for that specific purpose and eventually did dispose of everything (some of it just recently). But in the following years and especially under the guidance of Treasury Secretary Henry Mor-gant h a u, jr., the government
"junk men" have really been going to town.
Not long ago, they got a laundry! It came from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where it had been used for washing rags.
If you think the laundry stumped
the boys, guess again. They found a new United States reformatory that needed just such a laundry
to make its plant complete.
They once got 1,300 gum-plastered theater chairs and although they reluctantly admit they couldn't find anything to do with the old chewing gum, they sold half of the chairs to a little church that was just organizing here and gave the other half to the national training school for boys.
To NYA Schools
OBSOLETE airplanes and motors from the Army and Navy have been transferred to the National Youth Administration for training mechanics for national defense. Old Army uniforms, with stand-up collars, have been turned over to the Bureau of Indian Affairs, where they were ripped up and made into play suits for the children,
rag rugs and carpets.
The government used to pay to have its Army and farm stables cleaned out—until the surplus property section found that the Bureau of Biological survey was buying about 50 tons of horse manure a year for its work in mushroom growing. That ended that.
Now, Biological survey gets its fertilizer for the mere cost of transportation.
Surplus property recently got a $28,000 replica of the 95-dial clock in Liers, Belgium. It came through the Customs Department, as many of these things do. The clock now is one of the treasures
in the Smithsonian Institution museum.
Whiskey And Narcotics
TO LIST all of surplus property's catalog for even a few weeks would take a volume.
Thousands of grains of narcotics and about 100,000 gallons of whiskey a year go to the government hospitals and eleemosynary institutions; 80,000 packs of customs-forfeited wheat straw cigarets went to federal prisons
where the boys delight in rolling their own; 1,500 cartons of tea-balls were turned over to NYA; obsolete Army parachutes went to the forestry service; confiscated trucks and automobiles are shuffled around to the various departments at a dizzy rate.
And every year now, the International Boundary commission gets about 100,000 burlap sacks to keep the Rio Grande from shifting its course and giving part of the United States to Mexico.
It's probably the greatest junk business in the world.

Hospital Auxiliary Ball Tonight and Annual Catholic Daughters Sorority-Fraternity Party Marking Holiday Anniversary Party Is Very Successful

Several special social events have been planned for the holiday period locally, and with visitors in many homes and students home from schools and colleges for the brief vacation period, it is anticipated that all will be largely attended.

Inaugurating the season will be tonight's Thanksgiving Eve ball at the Woman's Club, a benefit party through which the Women's Auxiliary to the Warren General Hospital hopes to realize funds for several projects at the local institution.

Those who do not care to dance will find card tables arranged for their pleasure, play to start at eight o'clock. The Men About Town have been engaged to provide the music for dancing from nine until one.

Advance ticket sales have been fairly satisfactory but it is expected that many have not made earlier plans and will secure their admissions at the door tonight.

The younger set will gather at the Woman's Club on Thursday night for dancing from nine until one with Will White and His Orchestra providing music for the annual Thanksgiving dance of the Phi Zeta Chi Sorority and the Thespi Fraternity.

On the committee for this pleasant annual affair are Mazie Deardorff, Barbara Lesser, Jole Hubbs, Mary Katherine Lyons, Betty Jean Peterson, Jim Harding, John Baldwin and Clifford Anderson. Chaptering the gathering will be Mr. and Mrs. Carroll A. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. William Highhouse.

Also on Thanksgiving night, the local vulture of the 40 et 8 will entertain with dancing and refreshments at the American Legion Home for all Legionnaires, Auxiliary members and their friends. Luncheon will be served at the conclusion of the dancing at 11:30 o'clock.

Another event of the holiday period will be the "Queen's" dance to be given Friday evening in the Masonic Temple building by the Warren Chapter, Order of DeMolay. This party is invitational and sports wear will be the prevailing attire. Dancing will be from nine until one o'clock to the music of the Men About Town. Award of the first DeMolay "sister" pin in Warren county will follow the choice of a queen from the girls in attendance.

About 80 guests were in attendance last evening for the very delightful anniversary party held by the Warren Court Catholic Daughters of America, at the Philomel Club. Special guests were Father J. H. Diamond and Michael E. Dailey.

Dinner was served at tables artistically decorated in red, green and white, with flowers in keeping with the season. Mrs. George Cunningham, grand regent, proved a capable toastmaster in presenting the informal entertainment.

Opening with a reading, "Patriotism a Modern Apartment," by Felicia Lucia, the program was as follows: Vocal solo, "Wholly Buy My Lavender," by Agnes Monroe, accompanied by Evelyn Armstrong; one-act play, "Thick and Thin," by Felicia Lucia, Peggy Monroe and Josephine Lucia; reading, "At the Cafeteria," Kathleen Simmons; vocal solos, "Ave Maria" and "I Love You Truly," Josephine Lucia, accompanied by Kathleen Simmons; dance, "The Koki Oki," by Margaret Hughes, Sylvia Lucia, Agnes Monroe, Felicia Lucia, Peggy Monroe, Kathleen Simmons, Betty Hogan, Josephine Lucia and Evelyn Armstrong.

The final number of the much enjoyed program was the singing of "God Bless America" by the entire group.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty urination with a burning or stinging sensation shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, backache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By MEDORA FIELD

YESTERDAY: Aunt Maggie was murdered the night before and now, on a gloomy Sunday morning, nobody has the least idea why, or by whom. Sally, who with her husband, Bill, was giving the houseparty at which Aunt Maggie met her end, has been looking through the old lady's papers for a clue. Now the entire houseparty knows that what Sally wants to find is a diagram which will tell where the secret room, used in pre-Civil war days, is located.

Chapter 19 On The Hunt

"Oh," said Claire, "I was going to suggest last night before—before anything happened, that we look for the secret room today. It would have been such fun, such a grand way to spend a winter Sunday in the country. We could have offered a reward to the winner."

"Sally," Kirk approved, "that's an idea. We might make more progress if we just tried to find the room itself, without looking for a clue to guide us."

More than once I have marveled at the drama that can be introduced into any atmosphere simply by the entrance of a beautiful woman, and when two men present are both in love with her it is seldom that they agree on even the most insignificant details. So I was not surprised when Bob said, "Oh, I don't know. Have any of you stopped to consider that there may not be a secret room?"

"What do you mean?" I demanded.

"Well, think of all the changes that have been made in the house since it was built," he said. "Part of the back hall has been converted into a breakfast room. The basement has been changed. You've torn out that partition which separated the double parlors. And, Sally, haven't I heard you say that the third floor was originally a ballroom, with a stage at one end for musicians or amateur theatricals as occasion demanded?"

"And there's another thing to consider," he went on, as I nodded my head. "I've noticed that the walls of this house are at least three feet thick and that all the chimneys are inclosed. That means, except where there is a recess on each side of the chimney, that there is a good deal of space between walls. How do you know that what was once the secret room may not now be a plain, everyday clothes or storage closet, with no mystery about it at all?"

"Of course, an architect would think of all that," I agreed, "and I'm convinced that I had meant to be. It seems to me that this floor we are on would be an ideal place for the secret room," Bob continued. "When was it cut up into bedrooms, Sally?"

"My great-great-grandfather built the house," I said. "He was a middle-aged man when he came here from Darien, Georgia. I've always heard that it was my great-grandfather who changed the plan of the third floor. Some relatives from Virginia were coming to visit and more bedrooms were needed. You know how people came and stayed months in those days."

"So that explains it," said Claire. "I had been wondering why most of the furniture on this floor is Empire, while the rest of the house is so definitely eighteenth-century."

"Seems to me it fits perfectly," said Bob. "The chronology, I mean. Aunt Maggie said that her grandparents didn't know the location of the secret room. That it was lost between generations."

But if there was not a secret room, the bottom dropped out of all my theories with regard to the murder. I was getting ready to say that perhaps he was right and then quietly follow my own inclination, when Claire spoke up again.

"Oh, let's look, anyway," she urged. "That is, if it is all right with Sally. We might find something. We can sound walls and push panels and examine closets and all that sort of thing."

"All right," Bob agreed, too much his amiable self to argue further. "But, you know, Aunt Maggie didn't say she had found the room. She only said she thought she had found a clue. However, we may as well try. We've got to do something while we wait for the police to come and take us all off in the patrol wagon."

Eve Again
I COULD see that Alice did not relish Bob's facetious reference to the police. But why couldn't she try to understand that Bob and the rest of us were only trying to do the best we could in a difficult situation? I was beginning to be a little fed up with her teasing aggravated by her very appearance.

On the other hand, one always felt that even without beauty or money Claire would still present a smart appearance, for she uses sense about her clothes as she always has about everything else. Except Bob, perhaps.

Claire said, "Well, let's be off. Here, shall we go about it?"

"Let's divide into crews as we did last night," suggested Bob. "Claire and I can start in the basement. We'll give the rest of YESTERDAY: Aunt Maggie was murdered the night before and the event shattered Sally's and Bill's houseparty. After a bad night, the house was left empty except for the arrival of the police, trying to find the secret room which Sally has heard exists somewhere, and believes may have some connection with the murder. And Sally herself has just listened to a scurrilous story about Eve, one of the guests, and now must go to Eve's room to talk with her.

Chapter 20 Another Warning

NONE of which made it any pleasanter to drop in on Eve. And when I saw her, I decided that Bessie's was indeed a perfect description, for she was halfway out of her negligee and a generous amount of bosom was exposed where her white satin slip slid away. She was applying lipstick by the aid of a hand mirror and I thought looked a little haggard in the morning light.

"I always think lipstick is the difference between nakedness and nudity," she observed, watching out of the corner of her eye for my reaction to this witicism.

"I hope you slept well," I said.

"Oh, yes," she replied, airily lighting a cigarette. "I thought I would finish my mystery story before joining the merry throng. How are the two lovebirds? Coaling all over the place?"

And then, as I only waited, "There was something I wanted to talk to you about, but now that you are here I am not so sure what I should do."

"Well, you know best about that," I said, feeling that whatever Eve wanted to talk over with me would be more to her interest than mine, anyway.

She gave me a strange, speculative sort of look. "It's about the murder," she said.

"The murder?"

"Yes. Of course, you know Aunt Maggie was killed by someone in the house."

"I don't know it," I said. "She was killed in the house, of course, but someone from the outside must have done it."

"I think I know better than that," said Eve, calmly blowing smoke through her nose.

"No," I said. It was all that I could manage.

"There is one point I haven't quite figured out," she went on, as I sat and stared at her. "Just a little matter of conflicting evidence, one might say. That's why I think now that I should wait."

"I don't know," I said. "I'm afraid I'm mistaken. Yes"—flipping ashes into the old Staffordshire pin tray—"I may be altogether mistaken."

I wouldn't have been a woman if I had let it go at that. "But what do you know?" I asked.

"That's the trouble," she said. "The more I think about it, the more I wonder. Don't say anything to anybody until I've had time to straighten things out in my mind."

"But if you really know anything," I said, "it is your duty to tell the police. They'll be here any minute."

"Give me time, give me time," she said grandiloquently, and I decided the chances were she didn't know anything but was just giving herself airs.

"Why don't you finish dressing and come down?" I suggested.

Then, watching closely for her reaction, "We've all decided that Aunt Maggie's death ties in with the fact that she knew about the secret room, so we are staging a search for it."

Second Note

I decided I wasn't any good at reading faces. Eve's expression did change, but it meant any more than interested surprise. I was unable to determine, "Why should anybody think that?" she asked.

"For lack of anything else to think, I suppose. The fact that she learned about the secret room is the only unusual thing that happens before her death, so we put two and two together."

"Without getting very far?"

"Well, we're still hoping, Bob and Claire are working up the basement and Kirk and Alice are on the third floor. You can take your choice and join either couple, or work independently as I am doing."

"I think I'll begin at the bottom and work my way up," she said, her smile consciously edged with malice.

"Oh, Eve, have a heart," I remonstrated. "Things are bad enough already. Don't do anything to regret."

"I never regret the things I do," she told me. "It's only the things I haven't done that I regret."

I thought of a lot of things to say, but once again I kept my mouth shut. There wasn't any use trying to get anywhere with Eve. Eve was just Eve, and that was all you could do about it. Except, I did make a mental reservation to the effect that when all this was over I was going to cut completely free from her. Never again would she be able to take advantage of a situation as she had in coming uninvited to Wisteria Hall.

Remembering that earlier resolve to explore my own bedroom as a possible outlet for the secret room, I decided that this was the best of all possible times to do so.

And there on my bureau, where I had found the green note the day before, was another scrap of green paper. I would have thought it was the same scrap, except that the message was different.

This time it said, "Beware of the secret room. Danger."

It was all too absurdly melodramatic, and yet it was happening. One had to take the situation seriously. And that awful feeling of being watched, I raised my eyes fearfully to the mirror, taking room after the manner of the Lady of Shalott.

Over there by the dressing-room door, was the wall moving? No, of course, not. It was only my own hand on the mirror frame, pushing it backward. Spinning around on my heel, I went to the door and flung it open, looking up and down the hall. But the hall was empty.

Carefully I searched the room, banging on the walls, measuring space to see that closets and dressing room took up their full quota. The space on each side of the fireplace was blank, except for the windows, and the wall-paper covering it without a break.

I gave up and, taking the two notes and folding them together, put them in my sweater pocket along with the packet of matches and the scrap of silk. As I thought it over, it seemed to me that only two people were above suspicion so far as the notes were concerned. Andrew and I. Even Eve could have placed this second note on the bureau in my room.

For, after all, there was no reason why she could not have walked the few steps from her room to mine in negligence, timing her visit to coincide with Bessie's trip to the third floor. If she happened to meet anyone, she naturally could explain that she was looking for me.

This was all right, except for one thing. So far as I knew, Eve had been unaware of the secret room until our conversation of a few minutes ago.

BLUE AND WHITE CAGERS TO PLAY 21-GAME SCHEDULE

Jackets Ran Up 144 Points To 61 For Opposing Elevens

CARD SEVEN TILTS IN ADDITION TO REGULAR LEAGUE ENCOUNTERS; YOUNGVILLE INITIAL OPPONENT

The official Warren High School basketball schedule for the season of 1940-41 was released this morning by Director of Athletics J. B. Leidig and reveals the Dragons will play seven games scheduled to the fourteen contests scheduled for the Blue and White in the Northern Class "A" section of District Nine, P. I. A. A.

The league schedule opens on Friday, January 10, with the Dragons at Ridgway. Then first home encounter is the following Tuesday when the Bradford Owls come to Beatty court.

Youngville will open the local court season on Tuesday, December 10, at 7:30 p. m. when they will clash with the Bradford Owls. On the 17th they play the Penn Merchants, a collection of last year's stars, at Beatty court and then entertain Corry High here on the 20th.

EAGLES WIN FIRST CAGE CONTEST, 14-8

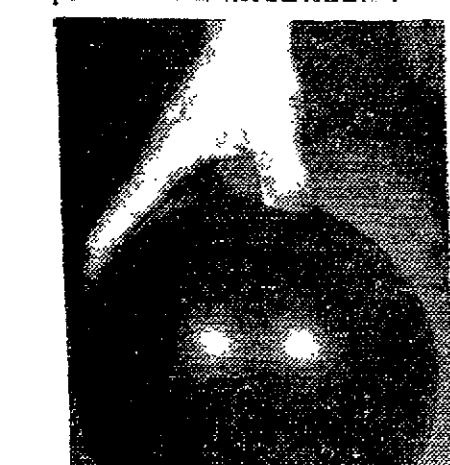

The score was more typical of a baseball game, but it was actually the first scholastic basketball game in this region and won by Tord Beck's Youngville Eagles, 14 to 8, with Spartansburg the victors.

As usual, this early in the season, the play was loose and rough, but the Eagles displayed a fine defense, especially in the last half when they held the visitors without a field goal. The Red and White showed a nice passing attack but missed easy shots. In the prelude the visiting Jr. Highs defeated the Eagles Jr. Highs, 17-16.

BETTER BOWLING

BETTER BOWLING

BY ANDY VARIPAPA
Famous Bowling Authority
A Curve Ball. There comes a time in every bowler's early career when he wants to learn to throw and control the hook or curve. This is a difficult delivery to master and much practice is necessary before the bowler can achieve a near-perfection. Once the bowler has mastered the hook, he will enjoy the game more because a strike is achieved easier with this style of ball. A hook gives the pins more action than the straight ball.

To roll a hook the ball must be released with the thumb placed the left (as shown in the illustration) and with the thumb leaving the ball first and the finger or fingers last. This results in the ball spinning down the alley and breaking to the left. Of course, the opposite holds true for left-handed bowlers.

Concentration is important in bowling. Experiment in open play rather than in competition. After you have mastered the release of the ball, put in plenty of practice.

ZIVIC POUNDS OUT EARLY WIN OVER CANADIAN

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 27.—(P.) Welterweight Champion Fritz Zivic, youngest of the five fighting Zivic brothers from Pittsburgh, has revealed the secret of his success—and it took him less than three rounds to do it.

The 26-year-old titleholder, who lifted the crown from the battered brow of Hammerin' Henry Armstrong Oct. 4, ably demonstrated that he owes his success to a pair of dynamite-packed fists in disposing of Ronnie (Frenchy) Beaudin, rugged Toronto battler, in two minutes and 18 seconds of the third round in their scheduled 10-round, non-title bout here last night. Zivic weighed 149 pounds; Beaudin 140½.

Referee Emmet Ryan of Albany stopped the fight as Zivic rushed his bleeding opponent for the kill. The champion carried the bath 42 seconds, punishing Beaudin with a vicious barrage to the body and head. However, there were no knockdowns.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

It is unfortunate that a scoring summary of a football season does not provide for chalking up assists. Down at the bottom of the list of Red Jacket point-getters will be found the name of Warren "Lefty" Check who is officially credited with only two points as his contribution to the 144 points chalked up by the semi-pro champs during the season, but Warren grid fans know that the diminutive quarterback and ace pass-slinger was the sparkplug of the club. In a team which boasted no hard-running back who was sure of a yard or two on each attempt and no former All-American who could set the sidelines afire with spectacular broken-field jaunts, the Jackets depended mightily on "Lefty's" long heaves and bullet passes. The locals scored 20 touchdowns during the season and the lads who carried the ball across the wide stripe are revealed in the list printed on this page today, but of the score of touchdowns nine, or nearly fifty percent, were chucked by Check. It is not necessary to mention that his aerials built up many of the long gains as well.

Another player who had one of his best years was Harry Rosequist, long one of the top scorers for the Jackets and who last year served as coach. Rosey placekicked 14 out of the 16 conversions he tried and played one of the greatest defensive games game-in-and-game-out that your correspondent has ever been privileged to witness. Always a prime backer-upper, Rosey outdid himself this year with some of the smartest work seen in the league. Rosequist has consistently been among the top scorers and only once dropped lower than second. He led the pack in 1935 and 1936 with 41 and 52 points, was second to Warren Heller in 1937 (getting 33 to the former All-American's 66), was fifth with 15 in 1938 (Larry Danabom was tops with 57) and was second last year with 39 to Bill Farkas' 54.

You said it! . . . Bill Farkas, F. and M. fullback, gained only honorable mention on the Associated Press' all-Pennsylvania team. . . . But so did Ralph Marasco, former Kane High luminary, who was captain of Allegheny. . . . Steve Benton flashed 701 at Jamestown in the Inter-City League for Ernie Shay's gang. . . . His high game was 258. . . . All of us who knew "Darby" Mannix, faculty director at Erie Academy and one of the most popular sports figures in northwestern Pennsylvania, are grieved by his death which occurred suddenly at noon Sunday when he was stricken by a heart attack. . . . "Darby" played baseball in the Eastern Shore League and later coached the Lions to their first city court title in 1927-28. . . . His niche in Erie's life will be impossible to fill—he was that kind of man. . . . Oil City's pride and joy of the ring, "Smoke" Robinson, has turned pro. . . . There will be no Rose Bowl for the Gophers; it was definitely established last yesterday when the director of athletics announced that the Minnesota grid season had closed. . . . The Elks are completing plans for fitting the Red Jackets, and what a swell gesture it is. . . . We've never been able to understand why Warren's three service clubs don't join forces to honor the scholastic gridgers each year. . . . Most towns do. . . . Strong Vincent will probably not be on the Draft list in 1941, we believe. . . . Charley Grimm is back with the Cubs—as coach. . . . And so is Jewel Ens.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

November 27, 1920—Just a word of praise for Coach J. E. Leidig. Again he has performed one of those miracles that Warren fans are beginning to look for each football season. This year he again took a bunch of boys who knew little about football and manufactured one of the best football teams in the state. Some day "J. E." is going to be given proper credit for the wonderful work he is doing. He hasn't had a weak team since coming to Warren.

November 27, 1930—Battling on a field which was covered by four inches of snow, Erie Strong Vincent gridmen defeated the Blue and White here this afternoon, 7 to 0. Only about 300 fans braved the weather to see the game. A Warren fumble gave Vincent the ball on the Warren 20 in the first quarter and Bauder passed to Bossart for the only score and then plunged for the point.

Sports Round-up

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Nov. 27.—We're back in the big city and hear Will Preston of Miami is in town. . . . Could it be to see whether Fordland will accept an Orange Bowl bid? . . . The Oilers won the basketball game, and "Uncle Frank" presided over a table of wild game from his Sooner ranch; that the boys hereabouts won't forget for a long time. . . . It's a long way off, but don't be surprised if Buck Shaw pops up in Baton Rouge to take Bernie Moore's job at Louisiana State.

Hear In The Huddle:

That N. Y. U.'s poor football showing this year can be charged to the departure last spring of Dick Check, 1919, 171, 831. . . . That Penn's Frank Reagan might have done much better against Michigan, if he hadn't zone into the game with a bad leg, about which the Quakers said nothing so there'd be no cries of "alibi". . . . And that the injury was aggravated by a twisting tackle while the first five minutes of play. . . . That Cornell started the Penn game with all six first and second stringers on the left side of the line banged up or out of it entirely. . . . All three Penn touchdowns went through that hole. . . . That Frank Schmidt was giving his Ohio Staters new plays the day before they met Minnesota.

Just a Bowl of Football:

Penn, Cornell and Minnesota. All have answered with a "no." But the Eagles and the Aggies. They'd surely like to go. They'd take the Bowl of Roses. Cotton. Orange. Sugar. Rice. They'd play Tennessee or Stanford.

And think it very nice:

Then there's Georgetown and there's Fordham. Who would also like a game. You name the trains they'll board 'em. Who wouldn't do the same?

History Class:

Remember way back when the Army last won a major football game? . . . It was against Navy in 1938. . . . Which leads up to the thought of the day: Why doesn't Coach Bill Wood mechanize the Cadets? . . . They haven't gone very far on foot.

Along golf's winter circuit:

They're wondering whether Ben Hogan will be as tough to talk to as he was after leading last

KANE BOY AGAIN CAPTAINS 'GATORS

Meadville, Pa., Nov. 27.—(P.) Ralph Marasco of Kane, Pa., the only back who could make headway for the Allegheny College football team this season, has been chosen captain for 1941. Marasco and Ray Saylor of Erie were co-captains this year.

RUMOR BUCKEYE COACH WILL BE FIRED FROM JOB

Columbus, O., Nov. 27.—(P.) A famed exponent of football raz-dazzle, Ohio State's Francis A. Schmidt, today is the center of as dizzy a coaching job puzzle as some of his pet players.

After seven years at the Buckeye helm, the tactician Texan will not be rehired as head football coach, according to the Ohio State Journal. Schmidt termed it a "cock and bull story."

But while university officials unanimously declared that there was no foundation for the report, none would say that he would be re-employed.

The Journal's story from an "unimpeachable source" chimed a year of speculation and rumor, aimed about the campus and among downtown coaches, that this would be Schmidt's last season no matter how the team fared.

And while Schmidt said he has no intention of resigning, and Athletic Director L. W. St. John and athletic board members were publicly silent on their plans, there already was talk of a new coach.

Jock Sutherland, former Pitt mentor now coaching Brooklyn's National League play-for-play gridders, and Earl Black, who heads Dartmouth's Indians, were mentioned among Ohio's tabularandom.

A. P. ALL-STATE COLLEGE ELEVEN IS MADE PUBLIC

BY TED MEIER

Associated Press Staff Writer
Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—(P.) Ten seniors and one junior from Pennsylvania, Penn State, Muhlenberg, Franklin and Marshall, Villanova, Temple, Lafayette and Duquesne comprise the Associated Press 1940 All-Pennsylvania college football team.

Selected by more than 60 coaches and sportswriters as the best among approximately 2,000 college players in the state were:

Len Warner, of Pennsylvania, and Perry Scott, of Muhlenberg.

Alex Schibanoff, of Franklin and Marshall, and Bill Collins, of Lafayette, tackles.

Charles Durlis, of Temple, and Ed Collins, of Villanova, guards.

Leon Gajek, of Penn State, center.

Frank Reagan, of Penn: Andy Tomasic, of Temple; Allan Donelli, of Duquesne; and Johnny Patrick, of Penn State, for the backfield.

Here is a team that averages 6 feet in height, 200 pounds on the line and around 180 in the backfield; eleven men who have demonstrated they can play football in any man's league and know what to do in any situation. As a "dream" team it is difficult to beat.

For a second team the coaches and scribes named:

Tom Vargo, of Penn State, and Stan Holches, of F. & M. ends.

Sam Fletcher, of Susquehanna, and Paul Stenn, of Villanova, tackles.

John Plewak, of Bucknell; and Bill Noppert, of Duquesne, guards; Ray Frick, Penn. center; Nick Basca, of Villanova; Edgar Jones, of against the Steel Age team.

WON SEVEN OUT OF NINE FRAYS IN REGAINING SEMI-PRO GRID CROWN; BOB MAIN WAS HIGH POINT-GETTER

A review of the 1940 semi-pro grid season locally shows that the Warren's Red Jackets won seven out of nine games, racked up 144 points to 61 for the opposition and regained the western Pennsylvania title which they held in 1937 and shared with the Rox Rooneys in 1936 when the locals played under the banner of the HyVies Oils.

The Jackets defeated every Pennsylvania opponent they met and lost only to the Buffalo Liberty Halls, formerly the Tonawanda Eldredge Club, their nemesis of 1938, and the Ohio champions, the South Akron Awnings.

Bob Main, stellar right end, was the high scorer despite the fact that he did not participate in the last two games of the season.

Min, who joined the army a couple of weeks ago, caught six touchdowns passes and scored one extra point by the same route for a total of 37 points. Harry Rosequist, veteran fullback, was only five points behind Main with 32, garnered by two touchdowns, two field goals and 14 conversions, all by placekicking. Rosequist missed only two tries at extra points all season.

Third in scoring was Harold "Buster" Brown, who led the Distributed Ten scholastic point-getters in 1939 while co-captain of the Warren High Dragons. Brown crossed the opposing goal three times in his freshman year as a pro performer.

At McKeehan, who was out most of the season with a broken bone in his foot, and Frankie Martinez, each scored a pair of touchdowns, while other six-pointers were registered by Harry Wooster, Henne, Harold Sedon, "Bullet" Graham and "Tink" Wolfe. Check picked up two extra points and Wooster another.

DISTRICTS SLOWLY GIVING REPORTS FOR ROLL CALL

Despite the fact that the annual Red Cross Roll Call in Warren county closed officially yesterday, district managers and workers have been very slow in reporting to headquarters, was stated today by S. M. McClure, chairman of the Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A total of only 30 districts have reported thus far, he said.

Five districts have reported since the printing of the last list, bringing the total to $802.10. The amount previously reported was $677.50, with $124.25 received from the additional five districts.

The grand total of $802.10 is made up of one $10 membership, eleven $5 memberships, 735 $1 memberships, and $2.10 in donations.

HOLIDAY WILL BE CELEBRATED AT SHEFFIELD

Sheffield, Nov. 27—Sheffield's citizenry in common with that of Pennsylvania and a few other states tomorrow will abandon their ordinary week-day pursuits in favor of those linked by tradition with the observance of Thanksgiving Day.

The Pennsylvania Bottle Company factory, the Central Pennsylvania Lumber Company mill, the post office and practically all business houses except the ice cream and beer dispensaries and the movies will be closed, permitting the owners and employees time off to enjoy the day as they see fit.

No formal, community-wide observance has been planned, but special services commemorating the day will be held in the churches.

ENJOY MOVIES

A half-hour program of miniature movies of scenes in Georgia and other points of interest in the South was the entertainment at this week's meeting of the Rotary Club. The pictures were shown by O. M. Borden, local motion picture man, who presented a tour of the South this past summer. Luncheon was served prior to the showing of the movies.

The meeting, held Tuesday noon in Cederlof Hall, was attended by all of the club's members and one guest, F. L. Borden. It was the second consecutive week in which 100% attendance was recorded.

Agriculture Department Predicts There Will Be Plenty of Turkeys For Christmas

BY HAROLD WARD

Harrisburg, Nov. 27—(P)—There will be plenty of turkeys left over after tomorrow for gobblers' dinners as late as Washington's birthday, the Agriculture department predicts.

Contrary to former years, when the turkey was strictly a holiday bird, these farm experts who watch the pulse of the market, point out that only 45 per cent of Pennsylvania's crop of $56,000 is being consumed in November.

The first 12 per cent was disposed of in October, and the December "take" which includes of course, the merry Christmas tide, will approximate 33 per cent.

The other ten per cent is saved for January, February, and even later, the department points out.

Experiments in the "streamlined" turkey have as yet failed to produce a heavy-breasted, lighter boned bird in commercial numbers, but they're developing fast.

In fact, this year's average bird is heavier than the 1939 variety.

The turkey business is a fast-broadening enterprise. Instead of the general farm, which used to produce the turkey for most ceremonial eating, the specialist farm now supplies the bulk of the market.

This year witnessed a slight defection in the turkey farm volume, however, which was taken up by general farm hatching.

LUCKY CREW

Lancaster, Nov. 27—(P)—The crew of the British destroyer "Lancaster," one of the 50 former American warships sent to Great Britain, will be adopted by this community, officials of the Lancaster Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, announced.

Mrs. William H. Hager, Jr., chairman of the solicitation committee, said both clothing and money will be sent to the crew.
